A majestic Mediterranean-style residence, revitalized by renowned architect Mário Martins, is located on 2 hectares of land near the seaside town of Lagos in southern Portugal. It offers the comfort of 6 bedrooms, landscaped gardens and partially covered terraces with a swimming pool and several relaxation areas.

The entrance hall leads to the communal area of the house with a living room, dining room and fully equipped professional kitchen, allowing for hosting a large number of people. This part of the residence is bordered on the south side by a garden and swimming pool, and on the opposite side there is a terrace with a heated pergola for year-round use. The minimalist bedrooms with en-suite bathrooms are deliberately set back from the communal areas, have separate entrances and private terraces, offering plenty of privacy.

The house captures some of the traditional architecture of the Algarve region. In the beautiful setting of the villa, by the pool and surrounded by a lush garden, there is a dining area with a stone oven, where you can prepare delicious dishes from fresh local ingredients.

The residence is located in the middle of nature near the village of Barão de São João, not far from the Espiche Golf course and the zoo of the popular seaside resort of Lagos. Barão de São João is a picturesque village in the heart of the Portuguese Algarve, where peace and rustic beauty reign. It is easily accessible from Faro International Airport, an hour's drive away.

Floor area 359 m², plot 21,280 m².
