Stylish living in a romantic building with a courtyard terrace from the 15th century with only 5 apartments is located in the historic core of Prague, in a small alley in the Haštalská Quarter in Prague 1, in Old Town, near Old Town and Republic squares.

The area of the apartment on the 2nd floor consists of a living room, a kitchen, a bright bathroom (with a bathtub with a shower screen, sink, toilet, and storage space), and an entrance hall. It is possible to adjust the layout to 1-bedroom with an undemanding construction modification. The apartment comes with a storage room accessible from the terrace.

The apartment was completely renovated in 2004. It includes new wiring, gas heating, together with the installation of new cast-iron radiators and lining of the chimney, renovation of the windows towards the street and new windows towards the terrace, replacement of the parquet floors and the creation of a custom-made kitchen unit with an oak worktop. The apartment was further modified in 2017, when the ceiling in the living room was soundproofed and a new gas boiler was installed. Built-in wardrobes provide plenty of storage space. The dominant feature of the living room is a historic and functional wood-burning marble fireplace purchased in a French antique shop, and a decorative element in the form of a marble mosaic is also in the bathroom. The architecturally valuable historic house without an elevator is well maintained; in 2020 it got a new facade.

The neighborhood is full of restaurants, bars, clubs, and cafes, but also churches, synagogues, and other cultural monuments. Stately Pařížská Street, contrasting with the winding streets of the Haštalská quarter, is nearby. The gardens of the Convent of St. Agnes are a pleasant and peaceful oasis, and Lanova Park is also close-by, and you can walk across the bridge and up the steps to Letenské Sady Park. There is a tram stop near the building, and metro stations (line A or B) are within walking distance.

Floor area 59.5 m², cellar.
